

It Boesn't Pay in the Long Run to be Greedy

St. Paul owns up that, when he was a child, he acted like one, as we all do; "But," he goes on, "when I became a man I put away childish things," That's where St. Paul gives us a hunch and sets us an example. He doesn't say that he gave them up when he became converted or when he joined the church—put them away when he became a man. The plain inference is that childish things, such as selfishness and greed, don't go with manhood. I think don't consist with manhood. I think we'll all agree with Paul in this, as an abstract proposition, a sort of ethical shstract proposition, a sort of ethical in this matter of greed and selfishness.

We are still in the childish state where we want everything within reach—and a few hundred things that are out of reach. "What do I get out of this?"

The in the childish state where it would be safe to shirk. That is the question which too many of us always ask first, when confront-well-dressed, sleek gentlemen who had to be paid before they would do their duty—paid sometimes to pre-vent them from blackmail or extortion. One witness who handled the corrupfor a big corporation, halfestingly admitted that they gave money regularly to all parties and to jestingly admitted simest all candidates: "About every-body who ran for office got his plum." Fad bills were introduced into the legislature that members might be bought off from passing them, good bills were "held up" in committees till the committees were paid for "accel-erating" them. The morals of this legislature seem to have been those of a piggery; gobble-gobble, grunt-grunt.

But there wasn't any special use in getting mad over the greed of some politicians in some other state. These New York swine couldn't have got into the legislature unless the people had elected them. And it's too absurd to suppose that all who voted for them were misled into thinking them pub-lic-spirited statesmen. A stream will never rise higher than its source: these grafters must have represented and unquestionably did represent a big and influential part of their constituents. They were not the only greedy gobblers in their respective communities. They were not eccentric and exceptional abnormalities: were others like them around them and behind them, or they never could been selected as representatives. It is quite true that one of the Twelve Aposties was a juday, but the other eleven never picked him out as their representative to act for them in mak-ing laws for the infant church. It isn't true that politics are a corrupt exception to an otherwise universal rule of unselfan public service. The same growth of greed and graft sends insidious rootiets through private busi-ress and sucks sustenance from the

Of course we must live and we must

The Wretchedness of Constination

Can quickly be overcome by CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. Purely vegetable ect surely and gently on the liver. Cure Bihousness, CARTERS ness, and Indigestion. They do their duty. Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price. GENUINE must bear signature:

Written Specially for The Bulletin.)
There isn't much doubt about it, that we are all born selfish. Bubles and young children are always greedy little things. The baby wants everything within reach, primarily to eat, but, if that instinct is fully satisfied, baby wants it, just the same. Wants it to throw away or breek, if for no other purpose. And wants it for himself, doesn't want anybody clse to have anything; toys, candy, green apples, hatchets or hot flatirous—all are peremptorally demanded by His Small Majery, and he must have 'em if you want to avoid a riot. Very often, it may be noted in passing, you have the riot whether he gets 'em or not.

St. Paul owns up that, when he was Written Specially for The Bulletin.) | live. This is the law of self-preserva grumble because they are not paid more? Brethren, putting it on the very lowest ground of materialistic But what's the good of abstract propositions and ethical theories if they never get out of the theoretical fog-bank? If we never or seldom build them up into our lives in actual fact? What earthly good would it do us to Jearn the admitted truths of the multiplication table, if we never put them into practice. I suppose the moral import of the Ten Commandments would be just the same if you learned them by rote in Choctaw, but I don't suppose your ability to repeat them in Choctaw at the gate of the New suppose your ability to repeat them in Choctaw at the gate of the New Jerusalem would be anything like as good a passport by St. Peter, as your having lived them in plain English. And the simple, sorrowful truth is or brushing hair or dusting clothes, or in some like way getting ready to be arrived at manhood and womanhood in this matter of greed and selfishness.

We are still in the childish state where

That is the question which too many of us always ask first, when confronted with any new proposition. If there isn't "anything it it" for us we lose interest very promptly. Worse than that, we begin to nose around suspliciously to see who is going to get a little "honest graft" out of it. We are so greedy, ourselves, that we take it for granted every other human being is, and must be actuated by our spirit of greed.

I've been reading some of the disgusting testimeny adduced in the New York graft investigation. Say, it's enough to make a man blush, for these well-dressed, sleek gentlemen who "Live and let live" isn't a bad metto "bent" some one else. I know farmers,—and I'll bet you do, too—,who will study for weeks and He awake o'nights to think up ways to get some unfair advantage over their neigh-bors. Like all other vices, it's much easier to denounce this in others than it is to cure it in ourselves. Nevertheless, that saif-curing process is vastly the more practicable and useful. Moreover, it is a task which lies at our own doors and we can take it in and tend to it without having to hitch up and drive to town.

> It wasn't a nice word, that which The Great Master applied to those who, with beams in their own eyes, essayed to remove the notes from others' optics. But I guess it was about the right word. Anyway, you and I haven't been given authority to amend it. It is not true that there is no honesty left in the worl, and that public spirit can no longer be found. There's more of both today than ever before. Instead of feeling hopeless and desperate over the greed and corruption that is being made visible, we can afford to rejoice that the nasty pus is being discharged from the opened sores. It is a good time for us to join in the general housecleaning. In view of our surroundings and our comparative freedom from the bigger temptations, we farmers ought to hold the highest rank in the armies of progress and improvement. I wish I could say some improvement. I wish I could say some word to prick one greedy soul awake to a sense of its own loss. I should feel well repaid for all these talks if I could be sure that even one hitherto self-seeking, greedy, fellow-farmer self-seeking, greedy, had been stirred by a had been stirred by some word in them to that reflection which is sure to lead any same soul which begins it out of the shell of indurated selfishness into the op... and neighborliness. THE FARMER. ness into the open air of helpfulness

BLOCK ISLAND

New Teachers in the Schools-Mrs. Melissa Dodge Seriously III.

Simon Dodge left here to join his wife in Wakefield, R. I. Sarah Sheffield is very iii. Joseph Maloof has gone on a bust.

ess trip to Boston.
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Paine are away on a three weeks' vacation trip.

Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Barber are guests of the former's brother, M. A. Barber, their summer place. Gertrude Mott is teaching at the lenter school.

The high school has new teachers principal and assistant. Mrs. Melissa Dodge, who was taken ill while visiting at the Ocean cottage, was removed to her own home, it being her wish, although very Ill.

Women All Alike. All women are alike in this particular-they reason more on their hopes than on their experiences.

Unscientific, But Accurate. He-"I am going to see what is the mean temperature." She-"Yes, isn't it mean?"

Brain Needs Exercise. Our brains are just as much open to training and exercise as our bodily muscles.

New Brunswick's Timber. New Brunswick has about 8,000,000 acres of fir, spruce and pine.

Don't Be Covetous. The covetous man loses; what he does are met. - Seneca

AS JOB JOLT SEES IT

Parson Dawson says "Love governs the earth." That may be, but it doesn't seem to govern man.

Cy Cymbal says he is about discouraged, the prices of produce vary so. His wife Betsy opines that is all that does worry him, for work cannot do it.

Samantha Psalter has her opinion of farmers who go to town three times a week to see what the news is, and then complain because the women just go to church to beat the brush.

Bill Bangs has found out that the way to get credit is to make folks think you do not want it. Bill will get found out in a little while.

It is steady work now until the crops have been housed. Jack Frost is hovering around. Minister Dawson's son says he learned that the cheerful liar is the man who praises his wife's hat. That boy knows a great many things that do not befit the Sunday school

Bill Bangs' wife says it takes a smart woman to be mean to the man she loves and good to the man she doesn't like.

The hens that lay when prices are high are bred by men who might have society, but "some pumpkins" are known to be eligible.

Many a city dude calls us "hayseeds," but hayseeds produce a valuable crop, and what do dudes produce?

I can't find out! How squaw winter and Indian summer got into autumn is still an open question no man can answer. These newspaper men who farm with pen and ink do not have calloused he hands or 16-hour days, JOB JOLT.

WASHINGTON COUNTY, R. I.

HOPKINTON Boy Preacher Makes Favorable Impression.

A good audience greeted the boy of Boston, in the Seventh-day Baptist old thing will do, is too often the of Boston, in the Seventh-day Baptist church Saturday morning, William Lawton of Providence, where the boy formerly resided, Superintendent of the formerly resided, Superintendent of the Randall street mission, where he was converted, accompanied him and gave a short address. Taking for his subject verses selected from John 15th chapter this boy gave a plain statement of Christian truth calculated to touch the hearts of all his hearers. One of the most admirable chacteristics of the boy's preaching was that tics of the boy's preaching was that he did not aspire to appear a man but was content to bear his message in a boyish manner. He is probably the youngest preacher on this continent if

Sale of Taylor Estate.

Lewis F. Randelp, Jr., has purchased the Peter Taylor estate on High street. Ashaway, and his father, Rev. L. F Randolp is soon to remove his family there. The reverent is expected to continue as pastor of the Seventh-day
Baptist church here for the present.
Miss Fannie Avery is staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Avery in Plainfield. Conn., and attending school.
Miss Laura Kenyon of Providence is visiting friends in this vicinity.

John E. Wells and family vifriends in Perryville over Sunday. Leon Sprague is to serve as janitor at the schoolhouse this fall.

Mrs. Jason P. S. Brown has received notice of the death on Sunday of her sister, Mrs. David Langworthy of Mystic. Conn. Victor H. Crandall spent Sunday in

USQUEPAUGH

John K. Lamond to Teach at Wesleyan -Everybody Goes to the Fair.

Mrs Evelyn Reynolds and niece of Arcadia were in the village Wednes-

The pastor, Mr. Palmer, preached at the church here Sunday morning. Clara Webster has returned to her school duties at East Providence.

John K. Lamond, who has spent his. vacation with his parents heer, begins teaching at Wesleyan university September 22, as professor of mathemat-

Everybody and his wife and all the children around here attended the Miss Myrtle Palmer of Hope Valley was a guest of her father here Sun-

Mrs. William Palmer and children have returned to Providence, after spending the season at their summer Lily Shantell, who has been at Dr.

Kenyon's, has gone to her home at West Kingston. Erroll Wilcox of Norwich was a H. Kenyon.

Annie E. Kenyon has resumed her studies at R. I. C., which opened on trainesday.

Wednesday.

Mrs. Will Potter was at her home here the week of the fair and took first premium on her colt.

- ROCKVILLE

Tourists Return from West Virginia-Personal Items.

Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Sutton and son have returned from their vacation of several weeks spent in West Virginia. Miss Lottie J. Burdick is spending a few days with friends at Westerly and vicinity.

Miss Sylvia W. Lanphear of Westerly is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Carlton Irish.

Mrs. Erlo G. Barber and daughter Florence attended the fair at North Stonington Thursday.

Harvey C. Burdick of Ashaway is the guest of friends here. Henry A. Saunders and his sister. Miss Lenn Saunders, attended the In-neral of their uncle, James Eldredge, of Old Mystle, who was drowned lest J. J. Taylor & Co. of Moscow have a new regulator to regulate the speed of the waterwheel at their mill. First English Horse Race.

Chester, England, claims to be the birthplace of English horse racing, and its first contest was in 1609, when three bells were bung up as a prize by the mayor,

The Happiest Women Have No History

THREE PRIZES MONTHLY: $2.50 to first; $1.50 to second; $1.00 to third. Award made the last Saturday in each month.

EVERY WOMAN'S OPPORTUNITY.

The Builetin wants good home letters, good business letters; good helpful letters of any kind the mind may suggest. They should be in hand by Wednesday of each week. Write on but one side of the paper. Address, SOCIAL CORNER EDITOR, Bulletin Office, Norwich, Conn.

THE SEPTEMBER PRIZE AWARD

This is the week for the award of the September prizes and we come up to the task with a feeling of accountability. When there have been 40 or 50, competing letters and only three prizes to do service it is a fine manifestation of judgment toward the prizes so that a majority of the members feel that the right ones got them. The award is made in total ignorance of the names of the writers—these are looked up afterwards.

The awards this month will be as follows: First prize, $2.50, to "Barbara," for letter entitled "Home-made Confec-Second prize, $1.50, to "Woman-at-Home," for letter entitled "Turning the Week Around Third prize, $1.00, to Mrs. P. H. W. of Willimantic, for letter contributing "Tested Recipes. Will the first and third prize winners please send their addresses to the Editor Social Corner of The Bulletin.

The Proper Use of Water.

Editor Social Corner: The use of water is a simple thing, and yet it is doubtful if one woman in a dozen realizes the disadvantage of using old bolled water in making tea and cof-fee, or for other purposes instead of fee, or for other purposes instead of fresh water boiled. It takes longer to heat up water to the boiling point that has been boiled than water from the faucet, and when it has been heated it lacks quality and is at the bottom of most poor tea and coffee brews. Those who have practiced drinking hot water before breakfast and just before retiring as a means of keeping the stomach and bowels right, know the value of fresh water heated, and come to make a distinction between hot water and water that has been scorched. This is a knowledge of water that the majority of water users seldom attain to. The water that stands in the kettle on a hot stove and has water from the faucet added from day to day is simply an abomination and is at the bottom of many kitchen failures, for it lacks life. Tea or coffee made from fresh water just boiled is so superior to that made or coffee made from fresh water just boiled is so superior to that made from old boiled water that the contrast en where things are not done well and about which there is most complaint. Knowledge is power in the kitchen as well as elsewhere, and wa-ter that is water should be recognized there for its merits as well as other things in constant use. Central Village. REBECCA.

Fried Green Tomatoes.

Editor Social Corner: I am so glad that there is at last a Social Corner where we can all talk to each other

Mullein for Deafness.

Editor Social Corner: Smoking dried mulleln is one of the best remedies for catarrhal deafness. The leaves should be gathered and dried; then broken up so as to be of the proper size to pack a pipe, just the same as tobacco. A fresh clay pipe is best for this purpose. The oil is made to reach the inner ear by holding the nostrils shut with the fingers after each puff and gently forcing the air into the ears. This will carry the into the ears. This will carry the smoke along with it. I presume the oll is vaporized and goes along with the smoke. This should reach the inner ear, perhaps not at first, but it will after a short time. who prescribed the remedy claims, however, that it is best to gather tha however, that it is best to gather t leaves and prepare them oneself possible. The taste and smell, if I remember rightly, are rather disa-greeable, but it has a soothing, healing effect on the ears and the entire nasal passages.

Mullein may be bought in packages for about ten cents at any drug store in the shape of a small hard cake which should be broken up. This will keep one supplied for about two

It is such handy and simple remedies as this that it is well to know about.

JANE. Norwich.

Salt for Use of the Eyes. Editor Social Corner: The use of salt water on the eyes is simple and salt water on the eyes is simple and safe. It is apparent that brine is not called for. I think a tablespoon of salt to a pint of warm water is sufficient. The water should not be made so salt it cannot be drunk. I use it cool and in winter sometimes use it tepid. If the eyes are highly inflamed it might be well to bathe them with hot water—as hot as can comfortably be borne, and follow with a cool salt water bath. Salt strengthens the eyes be borne, and follow with a cool sait water bath. Sait strengthens the eyes and it is beneficial when the eyes are watery or blurry. It does a well eye no harm. Ellen can regulate the strength and the condition of the water for herself. Judgment is always required in doing things; and discretion is no fault. If an error is to tion is no fault. If an error is to be made it better be on the right side. There is nothing hazardous about this. Plainfield. CLARA.

Three Useful Recipes.

Editor Social Corner: I find that the Social Corner is a help in various ways. The sisters have sent in some very nice recipes and I have been the gainer thereby. Now I wish to submit a few of real worth. These are three good ones: Chocolate Creams.—Take three cupconfectioners' sugar, enough hot water to make a stiff fondant; little varilla: press into shapes and let stand a little while." Have enough melted chocolate and dip shapes one by one, then place on paraffine paper and let stand until cool.

Maple Caramel Nut Cake.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of lukewarm water, three cup-fuls of pastry flour, one cupful of chopped English walnut meats, whites of four eggs, two rounding teaspoons of baking powder; beat the butter to be thinks so much of it herself that a cream and gradually add the sugar, beating well. To this slowly pour in will remember, too, It never occurs to the water; then sift in the flour, a little at a time, beating well, reserving one-half cupful of the flour to mix with the nuts, which now mix into the batter; beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and add the last thing with the baking powder. Grease well a long shallow now in the stift. thing with the baking powder. Grease well a long, shallow pan or line with greased paper; pour in the batter and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes or until done. Much depends on the depth and size of the pan. Cover with maple caramel and English walnuts. When ready to serve, cut in squares, a nut in the center of each squares. square.

square.

Dixle Cake—Two-thirds cup of butter, two cups sugar, two-thirds cup of sweet milk, two cups flour, one cup cornstarch, two teaspoons baking powder and the well beaten whites of 6 eggs. Mix in order written and bake eggs. Mix in order written and bake in four layers. Make a plain boiled icing and divide in four parts. To one part add one-half cup each of chopped citron and blanched almonds: to second part pulp of one orange. Put through a sieve and add one-half cup grated coccanut. To third part two tablespoons grated chocolate, one-half cup hickory meats and one-half cup figs, both chopped fine. Put on the first, second and third layers as written, using on top the plain boiled icing. ten, using on top the plain boiled icing. Sisters who indulge in a little fancy cooking will find these most satisfac-tory.

CHARLOTTE.

A Right and a Wrong Way.

Editor Social Corner: Chicken to be good and go as far as it will can be cooked quite a number of ways; but always put real fresh, cold water over it when you start to cook it—just enough to keep it from burning. I allow a large coffee cup for each chicken or fowl, and if it boils away and builing water—don't add your salt where we can all talk to each other informally.

I wonder if any of the sisters have ever fried green tomatoes? Slice the tomatoes and set aside in salted water an hour before frying. Roll in meal, salt and pepper, and fry. We think they are delicious.

I read the article about the daughter's bedroom and enjoyed it very much. It has helped me, too. When I feel like not making my bed or not sweeping my room. I remember that my room shows my character and then I do it.

If any of the sisters have a sure receipt to take out grass stains I would like to hear it. DOROTHY.

Norwich Town.

And content of the chicken of fean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or two, put in with chicken, is my idea. A slice of lean salt pork or t the gravy in thicken a teaspoon of flour and cold water, stir into chicken If one has a cold egg or two, slice them and mix with it. You can toast two thin slices of bread, place on a platter and pour contents of spider over toast, but don't kill the taste of your meat with water any time. J. E. T.

How to Make Yeast Cakes.

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: The green tomato recipes came in plentifully. Tomatoes act directly on the liver; onions, garlic, leeks, shallots, etc., stimulate the circulation and proetc. stimulate the circulation and promote digestion: peas and beans are among the most nutritious of vegetables, containing more muscle forming food than wheat: lettuce and celery both have a good effect upon the nerves—the former is soothing, the latter a tonic; corn meal is a strengthener. I use it in making yeast, to make our own yeast cakes as follows: Bring to a boil one quart of fresh buttermilk, stir in enough white corn meal to make thick like grue! let boil up well, remove from fire and cool; when lukewarm stir in one cupful of good yeast and set in a warm place to rise. In two hours it should be light—then thicken with corn meal, make into cakes and dry thoroughly. No salt, sugar, hops nor flour in these cakes. This is so easy to make and good.

Grape Marmalade: I prefer wild grapes. Wash, put in canning kettle, stir, cook till soft, set colander over a stir. cook till soft, set colander over a deep dish, not tin, pour grape in, rinse kettle, set colander over, stir and mash through with a mixing spoon; the seeds and some skins will be left back; nearly bowl of sugar to bowl of grape, boil down like jally. I use the dried beef glasses for its keeping with paper on tops and covers on. It is nice on bread without butter. I use it much for layer cake. The trouble is it don't last long.

last long.

The soiled lace yoke of a dress need not be removed to be cleaned. To restore its pristine freeliness rub powdered starch into the lace and let it dered starch into the lace and let it lay some hours and then brush it out. The starch absorbs both grease and dust. While boiling starch add a small piece of paraffine and your clothes will iron much nicer and retain the starch longer.

FRANK. Moosup.

Expectation Brings Disappointment. Editor Social Corner: I have noticed that The Man Who Talks frequently tion is the source of many preventable disappointments, and I realize how true this is. In matrimonial life the man expects the wife to always have a smile for him, but she will not; and the wife expects the husband to go right on wooing her forever, but he will not. Both sides of the house have troubles of their own, and trouble just lies down on pretty sentiment and often smothers it. A practical woman says: There is not a girl living who all her life has not loved to have her birthday remembered, and any other day, too, which has been of some special signifi-cance in her life. When she marries she feels all the more deeply on the subject. It is a matter of sentiment.

her that he will forget, and when he does, when he comes home on her birthday, on their wedding anniversary, on their engagement anniversary with-on their engagement anuiversary without even a reference to it she can scarcely believe it; but the fact eats deep into her heart and in more than one case the omission is the beginning of serious domestic trouble.

Now, what I should like to impress on every girl is that the genius for forgetting that almost every husband posaesses to a marked degree in no way indicates that his love or his thought for her has ceased. She must accept this failing along with others that with the average woman cause no uneasithis failing along with others that with the average woman cause no uneasiness. More than this, let her do as I do, remind her husband beforehand of the coming anniversary and keep on reminding him, if necessary. He will be grateful for the information and will enjoy bringing dome some gift.
Most of all, he will be thankful to have saved his wife the least cause for unhappiness.

Putnam Heights. Putnam Heights.

LIKED WIT OF ARTEMUS WARD

Londoners for a Wonder Appreciated Work of Great American Humorist.

On the occasion of Artemus Ward's professional visit to London, which occurred not long before his death, J. E. Preston Muddock says in his book, "Pages from an Adventurous Life," that the American humorist's advertisements of his "show" were as full of funny surprises as the lectures themselves. One that tickled the general public was this:

Artemus Ward Delivered Lectures -Before All the Crowned Heads of Europe Ever Thought of Delivering Lectures. And an excerpt from his lecture on "Drawing," is quoted by Mr. Muddock as a particularly delightful bit.

"I haven't distinguished myself as an artist," Ward said, in his inimitable way, "but have always been mixed up in art. I have an uncle who takes photographs in his sane moments, and I have a servant who takes every thing he can lay his hande on at any moment.

"At a very tender age I could draw on wood. When a mere child I once drew a small cart-load of raw turnipe over a wooden bridge. It was a raw morning. The people of the village recognized me. They said it was a raw-turnip drawing. That shows how faithfully I had copied nature. I drew their attention to it, so you see there was a lot of drawing in it. "The villagers, with wonderful dis-cernment peculiar to villagers, said I had, a future before me. As I was walking backward when I made my drawing I replied that I thought that my future must be behind ma.

Care of Tooth Brushes. The care of tooth brushes is not sufficiently observed. They stand in their cups or hang on their racks day and night, absorbing any germs that may be floating about. They should be washed frequently-at least twice a week-in some antiseptic solution, strong salt and water or blearbonate of sodium and water being two good and readily obtained cleaners. Tooth washes and pastes should be kept carefully covered.

The Microbe Census. A census of microbes on the surface of various exposed articles of food was taken by the Pasteur institute of Paris, with startling results. A cubic centimeter of water in which some es were washed produced 1,850,000 germs. This is certainly an excellent argument for protection of fruits exposed for sale from dust .-Wheeling Intelligencer.

Speak to Fido About This.

Some one writes, "Don't let your dog go without water." And if he is one of those large, loose, sociable dogs, don't let him tip over someone's garbage can and then come smilingly home to wipe his feet on the whiskers of some friend who happens to be calling on you.

Where Morphine Finds Victims.

Of a hundred unselected cases of morphine addiction 50 were found to be physicians, 20 physicians' wives and widows, ten nurses, six druggists, four dentists and ten laymen, making 90 per cent. closely connected with the medical profession.-Nurses Journal.

A Mistake.

"You don't want to make any mistake about Philadelphia's being a slow town," said Dobbleigh. "No, sirree, I discounted a 30-day note over there once and, by jingo, 30 days pass just as quickly over there as they do here!"-Lippincott's.

Some whites in the tropics do not tan, but take on a peculiar whitish color, even when the blood is strong and healthy. This is strikingly true in damp, hot places, and one sees some of the whitest people of Barbados.

Tan in the Tropics.

At Last.

Mr. Styles-"Here's an item which says the ears should be so placed as not to be higher than the eyebrows or lower than the tip of the nose." Mrs. Styles-"Well, dear, are my ears on straight?"-Yonkers Statesman.

Light in Everything. In everything that happens there is light; and the greatness of the greatest of men has but consisted in that they had trained their eyes to be open to every ray of this light .- Maurice

Butter From Coccanut Oil. A method has been found of con-several companies are now actively engaged in the business in Germany, Valuable Find in Argentina. Rubles, opals, crystallized quarts. onyx, tale, gypsum and earth suitable verting crude cocoanut oil into palatable butter and the result is that

Los Andes, Argentina, Java's principal productions are sugar (180 factories), tobacco, tes, and for making porcelain have been found in the sparsely peopled territory of